Why does The 519 foster intergenerational programming?

- To challenge stereotypes
 - To promote cultural knowledge exchange
 - To address social isolation and to expand possibility models
 - To explore common needs and differences across the generations
 - As a mechanism for developing new forms of support and solidarity
- Why do you want to foster intergenerational LGBTQ programming?
 - What are some challenges that you anticipate around fostering this programming?

Tell It Like It Is

A group of diverse people of various ages are gathered together, smiling and celebrating. They are wearing colorful leis and holding red plastic cups. The background is a plain, light-colored wall. The entire image is overlaid with a semi-transparent purple filter.
