Combating Ageism to Improve Access to Employment

Translating Evidence for the Decade of Healthy Ageing

Nearly one in three workers in the UK are aged 50 and over, and with the average employee in the UK in their 40s, this is set to grow over the next decade.

Yet significant numbers of older employees feel they are being discriminated against at work because of their age, including believing they have been turned down for jobs (9%) and being offered fewer opportunities for training and progression (32%).

This presentation will explore the importance of supporting our ageing workforce and will outline the actions that need to be taken to ensure that employers and individuals can reap the benefits of our longer working lives.
