2020 WHO/IFA WEBINAR SERIES

Age-Friendly Rural Communities | Are They Possible?

Growing old in a rural community is an inherent paradox: there are fewer services, people live in isolated communities, and there is substantial and intractable inequality and inequity; yet older rural people report feeling more satisfied with their lives with stronger social connections, and can thrive in rural communities.

How can we address the significant challenges in growing old in rural communities, while building on the strengths of this experience? This webinar will share ideas on how rural communities can be more agefriendly by addressing the major determinants of healthy ageing:

- The built and natural environment
- · Social connection and inclusion
- Community and health services

And the process for creating age-friendly communities in rural settings.

Do you need help with the shopping?

There have been stories going around of people in high-risk groups (e.g. the elderly) not going to the shops for fear of contracting COVID-19.

I am a 19 year old boy from Northbridge and graduated from St Aloysius College last year.

Myself and a few friends would like to offer our time (free of charge), to help those people with their shopping.

If you need help or know someone who does; you can contact me on my mobile or email address below and we can get it organised!
